Poetry.

Content.

BY "AXLE."

Wonder of wonders! in my stroll,
I met to-day
A woman with a loyal soul
And deeply read in Wisdom's scroll;
And I will try to tell the whole
This queen did say.

"'Tis true no carpet decks my floor,
But what of that?
God's warmest sunbeams on it pour,
White love spots flock it o'er and o'er;
And small feet through the open door
Come pit-a-pat.

No silken webs of rare design
And tints grotesque
My windows shade; but clinging vine
And flow'ring plants there intertwine,
And sun, and leaves and stems combine,
Sweet arabesque.

No gleaming jewels richly glint
Within my hair;
No silks and laces without stint
My husband's downfall darkly hint,
But, friend, you'll find my gown of print
Is far more rare.

Our frugal hearth knows not the storm
That makes a part
Of many lives; our true loves form
Our brightest joys and home's sweet charms
No fireside e'er so large can warm
A lonely heart.

Of no great deed my mind to test
You'll ever hear,
Who seeks for fame seeks not the best,
Who tells for wealth gains but unrest;
A babe's soft lips upon my breast
Were far more dear.

Too many children—spoke your mirth—
To me are given?
Thank God, I'm of such honor worth,
I gladly say with each new birth,
Not men alone we bear on earth,
Angels for heaven.

A slave? No, friend, you cannot see;
You do not know,
I'd give him all; he'd all give me,
Our wills must each the other's be,
When we love most than most we're free,
This must be so.

No sweeter, nobler lot in life
For you or me;
To be a good man's loving wife,
To guarde him when temptation's rife,
Rest on his strong arm when the strife
Shall fiercest be,

And, leaning on his faithful breast,
Look calmly out;
Secure no evil can infest,
No jealous fears thy peace molest;
For perfect love is perfect rest,
And dead is doubt."

I gazed upon this woman bright
In mute surprise.
I felt a coward in her sight,
I knew her glowing words were right,
Of truth the everlasting light
Was in her eyes.

Selected Story.

The Four Deaf Men.

A deaf shepherd was one day tending his flock near his own village, and though it was almost noon, his wife had not yet brought him his breakfast. He was afraid to leave his sheep to go in quest of it, lest some accident should befall them. But his hunger could not be appeased; and apon looking around he spied a Talaiyari, or village hind, who had come out to cut grass for his cow near a neighboring spring. He went to call him, though very reluctantly, because he knew that, though these servants of the village are set as watchmen to prevent theft, yet they are great thieves themselves. He hailed him, however, and requested him to have an eye to his flock for the short time he should be absent, and that he would not forget him when he returned from breakfast.

But the man was as deaf as himself, and mistaking his intentions, he angrily asked the shepherd: "What right have you to take this grass, which I have had the trouble to cut? Go about thy business, and let me alone!"

The deaf shepherd observed the repulsive gestures of the hind, which he took for a signal of acquiescence in his request, and therefore briskly ran toward the village, fully determined to give his wife a good lesson for her neglect. But when he approached home, he saw her before the door, rolling in violent pain, brought on by eating over night too great a quantity of green peas. Her sad condition, and the necessity he was under to provide breakfast for himself, detained the shepherd longer than he wished, while the small confidence he had in the person with whom he left his sheep, accelerated his return to the utmost.

Overjoyed to see his flock peacefully feeding near the spot where he left them, he counted them over and found there was not a single sheep missing.

"He is an honest fellow," quoth he, "this Talaiyara; the very jewel of his race. I promised him a reward, and he shall have it."

There was a lame beast in the flock, well enough in other respects which he hoisted on his shoulder, and carried to the place where the hind was, and courteously offered him the mutton, saying

"You have taken great care of my sheep during my absence. Take this one for your trouble."

"I" says the deaf hind, "I break your sheep's leg! I'll be hanged if I went near your flock since you have been gone, or stirred from the place where I now am."

"Yes," said the shepherd, "it is a good and fat mutton, and will be a treat to you and your family or friends."

"Have I not told thee," replied the Taliayari in a rage, "that I never went near thy sheep! And yet thou wilt accuse me of breaking that one's leg. Go about thy business, or I will give thee a good beating!"

And by gestures, he seemed determined to put his threat in execution. The astonished shepherd got into a passion also and assumed a posture of defence. They were just proceeding to blows, when a man on horseback came up. To him they both appealed to decide the dispute between them; and the shepherd, laying hold of the bridle, requested the horseman to alight just a moment, and to settle the difference between him and the beggerly Talaiyari.

"I offered him a present of a sheep," says he, "because I thought he had done me a service; and, in requital, he will knock me down."

The villager was at the same time preferring his complaint, that the shepherd would accuse him of breaking the leg of his sheep, when he had never been near his flock.

The horseman, to whom they both appealed, happened to be as deaf as they, and did not understand a word that either of them said. But seeing them both addressing him with vehemence, he made a sign for them to listen to him, and then frankly told them that he confessed the horse he rode on was not his own.

"It was a stray that I found on the road," quoth he, "and being at a loss, I mounted him for the sake of expedition. If he be yours, take him. If not, pray let me proceed, as I am really in great haste."

The shepherd and the village hind, imagining that the horseman had decided infavor of the other, became more violent than ever; but accusing him whom they had taken for their judge of partiality.

At this crisis there happened to come up an aged Brahman. Instantly they all crowded around him; shepherd Talaiyari, and horseman; each claiming his interposition, and a decision in his favor. All spoke together; every one telling his own tale. But the Brahman had lost his hearing also.

"I know," said he, "you want to compel me to return home to her, (meaning his wife;) "but do you know her character In all the legions of the wicked ones, I defy you to find one that is her equal in wickedness. Since the time I first bought her, she has made me commit more sin than it will be in my power to expiate in thirty generations. I am going on a pilgrimage to Kasi, (Benares,) where I will wash myself from the innumerable crimes I have been led into from the hour in which I had the misfortune to make her my wife. Then will I wear out the rest of my days in alms in a strange land."

While they were all four venting their exclamations, without hearing a word, the horsestealer perceived some people advancing toward them with great speed. Fearing they might be the owners of the beast, he dismounted and took to his heels. The shepherd seeing it was growing late, went to look after his flock; pouring out maledictions, as he trudged, on all arbitrators, and bitterly complaining that all justice had departed from the earth. Then he bethought himself of a snake that had crossed his path in the morning, as he came out of the sheepfold, and which might account for the troubles he had that day experienced. The Talaiyari returned to his load of grass, and, finding the lame sheep there, he took it on his sholder, to punish the shepherd for the vexation he had given him, and the aged Brahman pursued a course to an inn that is not far off. A quiet night and sound sleep soothed his anger in part, and, early in the morning, several Brahmans, his neighbors and relations, who had traced him out, persuaded him to return home, promising to engage his wife to be mere obedient and less quarrelsome.

Miscellaneous.

Death of Napoleon III.

The Empire was lost in the thunder and smoke of Sedan, and now the exile is dead. Louis Napoleon, the second of the Bonaparts who sat upon the throne of France, died at Chiselhurst at forty-five minutes past ten o'clock Thursday morning, Jan. 9th. Dissipation in the bright days of prosperity had left its mark, and so when it was necessary to perform a severe surgical operation upon him, the physical constitution was not strong enough to sustain the shock. He was nearly sixty-five years of age, having been born April 20, 1808. His life was uneven and eventful. Always plotting, he frequently was in trouble. In 1836 he was a wanderer on American shores, having been sent here for attempting a revolt at Strasburg. In October, 1840, he was condemned to imprisonment for life for trying to stir up insurrection. But having escaped from Ham in 1846, he landed a second time at Boulogne, March 2, 1848. Being elected a deputy, he took his seat in the National Assembly of France, where he plotted more industriously than ever. He made his famous coup d'etat Dec. 2, 1851, and just one year from that day he was declared Emperor, assuming the title of Napoleon III. He made a good ruler of France; he held the reigns of government firmly, and kept down the storm if not the spirit of revolution. He did as much to develope the resources of the country as any one man could in that land of hot-headedness and where the fire of insurrection seems to be indigenous to the soil. He was something of a profligate, yet under his reign France enjoyed a long period of repose. In fact he solemnly declared that the object of the Empire was peace. He showed weakness when he allowed the restless politicians to drive him into a war with Prussia, for he should have known that the sentiment of the civilized world was against the movement, and that France at that time was not prepared for the struggle which she invited. The step proved most disastrous. The German soldiers overan the fair bosom of France, the Empire was overthrown, and Napoleon was taken prisoner and then banished. And in exile, fretting, plotting and vainly hoping that something would occur to place again the imperial crown upon his head, he died as his illustrious uucle before him had died. But notwithstanding the mistakes of 1870, which proved so disasterous to France, it must be admitted that Napoleon did the State some service. He made his Empire the envy of Europe, and he gave practical incouragement to the arts and sciences. He took a warm interest in improving and adding to the commercial value of the stock of the country. Under his fostering care the French turf acquired a world-wide reputation, and horses were bred which challenged the admiration of the intelligent masses of the globe. He encouraged nearly all branches of elevated and health giving sport. But the scenes witnessed on the racecourses were the most brilliant of all such pagents called into life by him. The death of Napoleon has caused a profound sensation everywhere, and now that his heart is still and his lips are mute, possibly many of those who assailed him so bitterly while living will be moved to do him simple justice.

He Sees Himself as Others See Him.

A green customer, who was a stranger to mirrors, and who stepped into the cabin of an ocean steamer, stopped in front of a large pier glass, which he took for a door, and seeing his own reflection, he said; "I say, mister, when does this ere boat start?" Getting no answer from the dumb reflection before him, he again repeated; "I say, mister, when does this ere boat start?" Incensed at the silent figure, he broke out; "Go to thunder! ye cursed sassafras-colored, sock-headed bull-calf: you don't look as if you knew much, anyhow."

It is estimated that at the present time thirty tons of silver are required annually for photographing.

Easy Come, Easy Go.

LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF A WIDOW'S LIFE.

Less than a score of years ago, an eccentric old woman, living in London took lodgings in a cheap lodging house, located in a rather mean part of the city. She was very dirty in her ways, very stingy in her habits, and very mum about her own affairs. Ten years ago she departed this life.

The lodging house had been kept by an old widow, who knew hardly anything about her eccentric lodger. But it was found at the death of the lodger, to the amazement of the world, that the lodger had bequeathed to the widow her entire fortune, amounting to over half a million dollars. There was no doubt of it, for the fortunate widow soon got actual possession of the money. She was a good old widow, but no wonder if visions of glory now burst upon her soul. It seemed impossible ever to spend such a vast fortune.

The generous widow soon fell into the hands of her friends. She handed each of them five or ten thousand dollars, more or less, from time to time, and to four of her particular admirers, she was kind enough to give as much as seventy thousand dollars apiece. In this way her half million was reduced to fifty thousand.

The hapless widow now made the acquaintance of a man who had met with ill-luck in business, and invited him and his wife to take up their abode in her house. The confiding widow, wishing to do the man another good turn, transferred to him, as trustee, stock of the sum of twenty thousand dollars, and soon afterward gave him the entire management of what property she had left, which, also, was next transfered to him as her sole trustee.

The absured widow was now induced to leave her house and go to live with the man and his wife in a house which they had taken. Here she made a will bequeathing to him her whole estate, excepting a few small legacies; but, as the time of death was uncertain, she made him a gift in hand of ten thousand dollars, and soon afterward another ten. Not satisfied with this, and still uncertain how long he might have to wait for her bequest, she next assigned him, for immediate delivery, all her remaining property,—he agreeing to board her and give her a small annuity.

Two years ago, while the smiling widow was living under these circumstances, the man died, and his relict then claimed the property which had been vested in him by the widow. The wretched widow now got alarmed, under the impression that she might yet have to pass her old age in a poor house, and determined to bring suit for her property. The case was on trial for five days last month in the Court of Chancery in London. The decision was in her favor. The Vice Chancellor ordered the cancellation of the deeds she had given to the man, and told her that by the merest chance she had been saved from hopeless poverty at the close of her life. The festive widow is now in possession of something over twenty thousand dollars out out of the fortune of half a milllion bequeathed to her by her eccentric lodger ten years ago.

The name of the eccentric lodger was Roberson; the name of the fluctuating widow was Baker, and the name of the man who did her was Loader.

The case, as developed on trial, is regarded as one of the most curious romances ever brought before the British Court of Chancery.

Perhaps the disenthrallied widow will now keep hold of what money she has got—perhaps not. She may have a new set of admirers. She may be seized with new fits of generosity. She may again have the feeling come over her that it is bothersome to care for so much lucre. If we should hear, by-and-by, that the silly widow had managed to get rid of it all, and had been sent to the poor house in her last years, it would not be more surprising than the experience she has already passed through.

We should say that the moral of this story must be quite obvious to any other widow who may meet with her good fortune and bad luck.

The Fortunes of Our Presidents.

Washington left an estate worth nearly $300,000.

Jefferson died comparatively poor. If Congress had not purchased his library at a price far above its value ($20,000 he would with difficulty have kept out of bankruptcy at the close of his life.

Madison saved his money and was comparatively rich. The fortune of his widow was increased by the purchase of his manuscript papers, by Congress for $30,000.

James Monroe, the sixth President, died so poor that he was buried at the expense of his relatives, in a cemetery between Second and Third Street, near the Bowery, in New York city.

John Quincy Adams left about $50,000, the result of industry, prudence, and a small inheritance. He was methodical and economical.

Andrew Jackson left a valuable estate known as the Hermitage, about twelve miles from Nashville, Tenn.

Martin Van Buren died rich. His estate was estimated at nearly $300,000.

James K. Polk left about $150,000.

John Tyler was a bankrupt when he became President. He husbanded his means while in office, and married a rich wife, and died wealthy in worldly fortune.

Zachary Taylor left about $150,000. Millard Fillmore is a wealthy man.

Franklin Pearce saved $50,000 during his term of service as President.

James Buchanan died a bachelor and left an estate valued at $200,000 at least.

Abraham Lincoln left about $75,000.

President Grant was poor before the war. By a careful husbandry of his salary and through the generous gifts of friends before he became President, his fortune is a handsome competence.

The total length of electric and telegraphy in the world is set down at 180,000 miles, or more than sufficient to girdle the earth half a dozen times.

A soldier telling his mother of the errible fire at Chickamauga was asked by her why he did not get behind a tree. "Tree!" said he; "there wasn't enough for the officers."

American Humorists.

THEIR PRECARIOUS FAME—SOME NOTABLE INSTANCES.

We enjoy having a new name to admire and laud, and after a little while we enjoy equally its depreciation and denunciation. We all seem willing to lift a person to a certain height, and we relish seeing him there as long as we can delude ourselves with the notion that we aided to put him in the position. Hearing others extol him, we grow envious and cynical; fall to piercing him with arrows of satire, and are delighted when he is down, never to rise again.

A slight retrospect will prove the truth of the statement. We can easily recall the wide popularity Doesticks (Mortimer Thompson) gained as a humorist. His Damphool was in everybody's mouth, and in many persons' character. His sketches were laughed at immoderately. He came from Detroit, Michigan, to New York and the Tribune, and scintillated for a year or two. Then he was pronounced wearisome, and ere long he sank out of sight. He wrote for the weekly storypapers, but he lost his attraction, and recently went to Mineapolis, Minnesoto, to assist in editing a daily.

Artemus Ward followed. From a humble local reporter on a Cleaveland (O.) journal he rose to more than national reputation. His phrases were quoted by the people, and his lectures drew crowds. He suffered an eclipse. He went to England because, as it was said, his jokes were all known here. He died, and the encomiums that had been suspended were revived over his grave.

"Nasby" (Locke) rose to fame immediately after the war; had his culmination and decline. You seldom see his badly spelled screeds now, though he lectures with pecuniary profit; edits the Toledo Blade, and is worth $270,000.

Orphens C. Kerr (Robert H. Newall) was highly commended for his clever satires on the Army of the Potomac in a New York weekly, but became invisible with the return of peace. He is attached at present to the staff of the World, and does the "Social Studies" in the Sunday issue.

Mark Twain (Samuel L. Clemens) was brought to the surface by his 'Jumping Frog," and universally advertised by his extremely ludicrous "Innocents Abroad." As the funny man on the Galaxy he was pronounced such a failure that he retired from his department in confusion and panic. His "Roughing It" is wholly inferior to his other book, though it has sold largely. The public are wearying of him a little, and he must arouse himself if he cares for his laurels.

Bret Hart conquered attention by his extraordinary tales in the Overland and grew celebrated by his trifle, "The Heathen Chinee." Cities and publications bid for him, and Boston and the Atlantic carried him off. Since then he has been stifled almost. We have had no really clever thing from him, according to the critics, who consider his reign at an end.

John Hay came home from Europe, wrote "Little Breeches" and "Jim Bludsoe," and was made the theme of countless paragraphs. His admirable book, "Castillian Days," gave him reputation among the cultivated, but they are the few. He is doing fine strong work on the Tribune, but he is slipping out of the public eye.

Even Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras, has almost had his day. His songs are pronounced monotonous, and his genius a manufactured article.

We await, at this moment, another coming man—somebody to put up and pull down. He will be along anon. The question is: Do our humorists and literary lights decline, or do we declare them exhausted because they are such, or because we are merely fickle?—New York Correspondent St. Louis Globe.

There is as much ingenuity expended in excluding light from our dwellings as in keeping out dirt, flies, or cold.

INDOLENCE.

While we do not wish any of our readers to consider this article personal, there are many instances, occuring all about us naturally tending to suggest thought upon the subject.

Idleness was a criminal offence at Athens, and we are not sure but it should be so regarded everywhere since "drones suck not the blood of eagles, but rob bee hives." PLUTARCH, in the life of LYCURGUS, tells of a classic loafer who was one day fined for this offence, but was greatly condoled by a brother idler as having been condemned for keeping up his dignity.

A wise old man advised his son: "Rather do what is nothing to the purpose than be idle, that the devil may fine thee nothing." The bird that sets is easily shot, when flyers escape the fowler. Idleness is the dead sea that swallows all the virtue, and the self made sepulcher of a living man.

We sincerely pity the man who has nothing to do, for idleness is the mother of more misery and crime than all the other causes ever thought or dreamed of by the profoundest thinker or the wisest theorist. "Pray, of what did your brother die?" said the Marquis SPINOLA one day to Sir HORACE VERE. He answered: "He died, sir, of having nothing to do." "Alas!" said SPINOLA, "that is enough to kill the most able general amongst us."

Laziness grows on people. It begins in cobwebs and ends in chains. The more business a man has to do the more he is able to accomplish; for he learns to economize his time. In a work house at Hamburg idlers are punished by being suspended in a basket above the tables, so that they can see and smell the things provided for the industrious, but are not allowed to taste them. "Idleness," says a writer, "is a constant sin, and labor is a duty. Idleness is the devil's home for temptation, and for unprofitable, distracting musings, while labor profiteth other than ourselves."

There are hundreds that want energy for one that wants ambition, and sloth has prevented as many vices in some minds as virtue has in others. Idleness is the grand pacific ocean of life, and in that stagnant abyss the most solitary things produce no good, the most noxious no evil. The son bred in sloth becomes a spendthrift, profligate and goes out of the world a beggar.

How true the aphorisms "no pains—no gains;" "no sweat—no sweet;" "no mill—no meal." An idle brain is the devil's workshop. Indolence is a stream which flows on, but yet undermines the foundation of every virtue. He is not only idle who does nothing, but he is idle who might be better employed. Much bending breaks the bow—much unbending the mind. Whether physically or mentally it should not be encouraged.

OUR ADVANTAGES OVER THE WEST.

When we consider some of the disadvantages of the West, its' cold climate and costly transportation to market, we cannot help but marvel that emigration from Europe and the Northern States should continue to flow in such an uninterrupted stream in that direction. That it possesses a fine soil all admit; but what natural richness can compensate for six months of a climate as cold as Greenland? That the crops raised there are fine is equally true, yet the difficulty of reaching market is such that the fertility of the country is to a great extent unprofitable to the farmer. Take the crop of Wheat. It costs sixty cents to ship a bushel from any of the important Western points to New York, and as for corn it won't pay to transport it at all. In Iowa it is so cheap that it is being used for fuel instead of coal or wood.

How much wiser it would be for those seeking new homes and profitable fields for investment to come South. Indeed if the people of the Northern States knew what a fine country we have here in this Albemarle section of North Carolina we feel sure that the boundless tide of emigration would be turned toward us. We have a fertile soil and an unequalled climate. We have cheap and expeditious transportations to all the cheap markets of the Union. We have everything here to make an energetic and industrious people comfortable, prosperous and happy.

The time has come when these advantages should be, nay, must be published to the world. When once known selfinterest will do the rest. Immigration actively begun will keep on until our State is filled up. Then will North Carolina fill her high destiny and become one of the foremost States of the Nation.

FRANK BLAIR will retire to private life. The Legislature of Missourri has elected Hon. L. V. BOGY to succeed him in the U. S. Senate. Exit BLAIR!

KISSING.

A young lady of Maysville objected to her sweetheart kissing her recently, because the Observer and Reporter was in the room.—Courier Journal.

If it had been our paper she would have smiled sweetly, placed her lily white hand on her soft cheek, and remarked, Plant it right here, my love.—Durham Tobacco Plant.

If it had been our paper she would have said, yes, kiss me as often as you please and let the Banner tell it to the world that it was so sweet, and I don't care who knows it.—Princeton (Ky.) Banner.

When the kissing occurred, the young lady posted a Sentinel in the Southside to see that it was well and warmly done—for says she, with a sly wink at the Sentinel, "He knows all about it—he has been there.'—Southside Sentinel.

The Sentinel is mistaken; the kissing did not occur. But, had we been there, it should certainly gone on, and the Reporter could never have known the number of Times.—Danville (Va.) Times.

Our neighbor of the Times is mistaken—the kissing did occur—but had we been there—Oh! ye Gods and little fishes. We would not have known when to stop gathering the nectar from those coral lips, and looking at the angel wings which were spread in those clear blue eyes; for no Record of the time would we have kept.—Reidsville Record.

The Record is mistaken. The kissing did not occur, because the young lady objected. But if it had occurred and our reporter had witnessed the operation the blushing damsel would have doubtless exclaimed—"Don't carry the News to mother!" Whereupon ye local would soon have absquatulated.—Raleigh News.

We should have removed the objectionable matter at once, and no one but the lady should ever know how many Times we kissed her.—Newbern Times.

The young lady, being a modest NORTH CAROLINIAN, objected to such liberties on so short an acquaintance. She believes kissing to be a luxury not to be indulged in on ordinary occasions. And yet had we been the young man we would not have been satisfied without having it from her own mouth!

AN EXECUTIVE ORDER CONCERNING OFFICE HOLDERS.

An executive order has been issued by the President that from and after the 4th day of March 1873, "persons holding any Federal Civil office by appointment under the Constitution and laws of the United States, will be expected while holding such office not to accept or hold any offices under any State or territorial government, or under the charter or ordinances of any municipal corporation, and further, that the acceptance or continued holding of any such State, territorial or municipal office whether elective or by appointment by any person holding civil office as aforesaid under the government of the United States, other than Judicial officers under the Constitution of the United States will be deemed a vacancy of the Federal office held by such person and will be taken to be, and will be treated as a resignation by such Federal officer of his commission or appointment in the service of the United States; the office of Justices of the Peace of Notaries Public and of Commissioners to take the acknowledgment of deeds of bail or to administer oaths, shall not be deemed within the purview of this order, and are excepted from its operation and may be held by Federal officers."

IN BAD TASTE.

The Raleigh News displays indiscretion, if not bad taste, in trying to turn everything to partisan advantage. Were we disposed, which we are not at a time when we are earnestly laboring to build up our great National interests by encouraging Northern immigration, we could show that its reference to an editorial admission in a late issue of the CAROLINIAN bears no construction attempted to be put upon it. We did state that human life is safe to-day in North Carolina than in the city of New York. Here we now have a State Administration in harmony with the National as well as with the legislation of Congress. The laws are enforced, crime is punished, property is protected and life is secure. We alluded to it to remind our friends in the North that all this is true. As for New York, it has for years been controled by the Democracy. Its State Administration has been in the hands of the same party. Were we disposed we could carry the comparison much further and it would not help the political party the News supports.

A WORD ABOUT THE WEATHER.

From all points of the compass come reports of the cold weather, and we have been having quite our share of it. We cannot boast of twenty or even two degrees below zero, but are very well content to be as much as that above it, and have found ourself very comfortably cold at that figure. We are more than willing that other people should boast themselves of the extremes of the thermometer; we like ours to hold as steadily as possible at the medium numbers, and in our pleasant locality of Elizabeth City we are usually gratified in this respect.

It is pleasant to remember on the few cold days we have had that such an unusual extreme for our favored climate is not likely to hold on three months, or three weeks even, that we are not obliged to make up our minds sturdily to face the continuation of it for any length of time.

Already the sun shines brightly again, the whistling North wind has died away, we open our doors and windows to let in milder air, and the shivering poor creep forth rejoicing into the warming and enlivening rays of the God of Day. The children race out too in the sunlight with the true instinct of nature. Let them breathe all the fresh air they can, and grow hardy and vigorous, thriving as no house plant can.

A very remarkable meeting was held in the city of Washington on the 15th inst. It consisted of delegates of the religious societies engaged in the care of the Indians, of the members of the Indian Commissions, and of army officers from the border. Their testimony concerning the "peace policy" was concurrent, and must be regarded as conclusive

CHISELHURST.

The death of Napoleon at Chiselhurst gives some notoriety to the place, and its locality may be a matter of interest. It is a parish in the country of Kent, eleven miles southeast from London. William Camden, the famous British antiquarian, died within its boundaries. The villa chosen by the late ex-Emperor, after the sceptre of France had been wrested from his grasp, is described as a spot of surpassing beauty—the fitting country seat of a prosperous prince.

A newspaper of Iowa City gives rather a discouraging account of what the farmers in those "diggings" are doing, or rather not doing. Here is the Price Current: A pair of Winter boots costs two loads of potatoes; a night's lodging, a load of oats; the wife wears five acres of wheat; the children each ten acres of corn; the price of an overcoat is a good four-year-old steer; of a Sunday suit, twenty fat hogs. The farm, too, wears a mortgage that is worse than hard-pan to the soil, and the annual tax rots the roof faster than rain.—Tribune.

While the farmers of North Carolina think the price of their produce is low, and some of it is too low, what would they think and how would they feel if they were compelled to sell at Iowa prices? And is not this an item worthy the earnest consideration of the Northern and Eastern emigrant?

The Raleigh Era, the State organ of the Republican Party of North Carolina thus speaks of the NORTH CAROLINIAN:

This is the organ of the Republicans of the Albemarle country, and the only Republican paper in the first District.

Dr. John came from Pennsylvania after the war, and, with his paper, has induced more immigration and capital to flow into the State than any man within our borders.

THE NORTH CAROLINIAN deserves a large patronage from its people of all parties.

Gov. CALDWELL appointed KEMP P. BATTLE, Esq., of Raleigh, to the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, but the present incumbent, ALEX MCIVER, refuses to vacate. What the result will be is to be seen.

New Books, Periodicals, &c.

THE GALAXY:—The Galaxy has now entered on the eighth year of its existence, under circumstances of unusual prosperity.

This Magazine has from the first occupied a field entirely its own. The aim of The Galaxy has been to discuss promptly every great subject which is uppermost in the public mind, and to have the discussion carried on by our ablest and best-known men in each department.

These papers by conspicuous public men, on national topics of importance, will be continued, and will embrace contributions from the most prominent of our living statesmen on question of national interest.

Among the contributors of the Galaxy are Hon. GIDEON WELLS, J. S. BLACK, J. W. DEFOREST, JUSTIN MCCARTHY, CARL BENSON and other of the ablest writers of the country.

The "Scientific Miscellany" of The Galaxy has proved so generally popular that the Publishers seek to make it still more deserving of the attention of intelligent readers. The department is prepared by a distinguished scientist, whose relations with the leading scientific men of England, and Europe generally, are such as to enable The Galaxy to keep abreast of the latest facts.

In the department of literary criticism The Galaxy will have the assistance of the clearest and brightest intellects in the country.

The Galaxy gives care to the selection of short stories from the number offered its Editor, and makes them a noticeable feature of each number of the magazine.

The Galaxy is edited with the nicest possible appreciation of the public taste, and seems fitted to meet the wants of every member of the family.

For the trifling expense of $4.00 per year one may obtain in The Galaxy a vast amount of instructive and entertaining reading; and, were this his only source of culture, one could not fall very far behind the spirit of the age.

CORRESPONDENCE

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 16. 1873.

The Congressional furnace is burning hot, and the scenes at the Capitol are most interesting. Bills of long standing and of short standing represented before their respective committees by members of the Third House are, all, pushed forward with a zeal unparallelled in Congressional legislation. Among the most annoying to Congressmen, are the small private bills asking aid. Seemingly there are as many lobbyists to each of these bills as there are bills, in which millions are the consideration.

The bill for the refunding the cotton tax collected in 1865, 1866 and 1867, soon to be reported by the House Appropriation Committee, is of the most magnitude, having forty or fifty millions involved. The Supreme Court of the United States was divided on the constitutionality of the act, and the fact of its repeal by Congress by a large majority, almost insures to the advocates of the bill its passage. Every member of the cotton-growing States, and a majority of the other Southern States are favorable to the bill. The bill provides that the refunding shall be done by bonds at a low rate of interest—runing forty years.

On next Monday, the postal telegraph bill, which has been reported favorably by the Senate Post Office Committee, will be taken up and a lively debate will ensue. The friends of the bill appear confident of success, notwithstanding it is understood that Mr. Orton has engaged a lobby to oppose. It has become proverbial that a favorable report of the Senate Post Office Committee is equivalent to a passage in the Senate.

The Woman Suffrage Convention now in session is meeting with success. At 10 o'clock this morning, Lincoln Hall was well filled. Mrs Anthony lead off in a well-prepared speech on the general principles of reform, followed by Elizabeth Cady Stanton, on the English method of treating women; Mrs. Gage, of New York, on what the agitation of the Woman Suffrage question has accomplished, and took considerable pains to try and impress the audience that the resent Administration (especially Senator Wilson, which is to be a part of it,) being favorable to woman's suffrage, and to that end it paid Mrs. Anthony's fare on to Washington during the stormiest part of the late political campaign.

The Southern Claim Commission (expiring by act of Congress which created it, on the 3d of March next,) has passed some 300 claims and has 1,500 more still on file. It is thought that Congress will continue this Commission four year more.

The Sub-Committee to investigate the defalcation in the Internal Revenue, met last evening and took considerable rabtestimony which is said to be very damaging to certain bondsman of defaulters.

From the investigations now going on of the Credit Mobilier affair, one would judge that M. C.'s were mortals and had an eye to investing their loose change in the best possible way. With the exception of Oakes Ames, probably no member will be found guilty of any illegal transaction, and this trouble and expense to the government will come to naught.

The friends of Honorables James Brooks of New York, and Oakes Ames of Massachusetts, are considerably worried over the suit commenced against these honorables by Thos. C. Durant, ex-president of the Credit Mobiler. Mr. Durant has long since prepared his claim, and only through the warmest solicitation of his friends has been induced to withhold prosecution.

The Commissioner of Education has information from Hon. J. D. Philbrich, Superintendent of the schools of Boston, that at the meeting of the State Teachers Association, just held at Worcester, resolutions were adopted unanimously in favor of co-operation cordially in the plan of representing American systems of education at Vienna; that the State Board of Education of Massachusetts has appointed a committee to take this matter in charge, making Mr. Philbrich chairman. Mr. White, the Secretary of the Board of Education, is giving the matter his most earnest efforts. Massachusetts will undoubtedly arrange complete sets of all reports, State and city, to be specially prepared for exposition.

It appears on investigation that Governor Carney of Kansas, got $22,000 to withdraw from the Senatorial contest, by which means it was proposed to assist Senator Caldwell in his election to the U. S. Senate.

The pork packing enterprises of 1872 is yet somewhat behind the previous year, yet it is gaining rapidly. The success of this great annual movement is watched with special interest in the East. A large hog crop in the West means to the Eastern cities an abundant supply of meat. In the New York market the corn fed pork of the States north of the Ohio river enjoys a special popularity.

In the Maine shipyards, so long idle, quite a revival of business was witnessed during the past year. No less than 150 vessels of 4,000 tonnage were built during 1872, the operations of the coming year will reach at least 60.000 tons. The Deleware ship-yards have also been able to underbid the English yards in the construction of five new vessels of a great Italian steamship company just organized. We are rapidly overhauling the famous Scotch builders of the Clyde. The bright prospects now opening to this trade are stimulating investments and the business will soon be on its old footing.

LIFE.

Resolutions on Death of Mathet Taylor.

New Lebanon Lodge,
No. 314 A. S. 5872.

At a called meeting of New Lebanon Lodge No. 314 A. F. M. held on the 28th day of Dec. A. D. 1872 the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Whereas, in the providence of God our esteemed Brother Mathet Taylor has been summoned to the Supreme Grand Lodge above, it becomes us his surviving brethren while bowing with humble submission to the rightious will of the Supreme Grand Master of the universe to give some expression of our feelings on this afflictive occasion therefore.

Resolved: That we deeply feel the great loss we have sustained in the removal of our brother from our midst and that we tender to his widow and surviving relations our hearty condolence in their sad bereavement.

Resolved: That the members of the Lodge wear the usual badge of mourning for 30 days.

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the widow of our deceased Brother and a copy be sent to the NORTH CAROLINIAN for publication.

Immigration Meeting in Currituck.

At a meeting of the citizens of Currituck held in the Court House on Monday the 13th, of January 1873 for the purpose of forming an Immigration Society, to act in conjunction with the Albemarle Immigration Society, the following proceedings were had:

On motion, W. S. Mercer, of Moyock Township was called to the chair, and Dr. H. M. Shaw requested to act as Secretary.

Speeches favoring the subject were were made by J. P. Whedbee and W. F. Martin of E. City, and Hon Asa Biggs and Col. E. C. Lindsey of Norfolk Va.

On motion a Committee of five was appointed to report permanent officers for the County Society. After some consultation the committee reported the following:

For President; T. S. Sanderson of Moyock.

For Vice Presidents: V. R. Gordon of Crawford; Calvin Cason, of Forestville; W. S. Mercer, of Moyock; Dr. H. S. Lord, of Poplar Branch; Hodges Gallop, of Atlantic.

Secretaries; Dr. L. M. Bell, H. E. Baxter, and A. O. Dey.

The Secretaries were requested to correspond with the Secretaries of the Immigration Society at Elizabeth City in regard to purposes for which the Society was formed The meeting was largely attended by the representative citizens of the county, and the greatest interest was manifested by all present.

Proceedings of County Commissioners.

E. City, N. C., Jan. 20th, 1873.

Clerk.

From Washington.

The most important business in the United States Senate the past week are bills to abate distinction of race and color in the army; provisions for the appointment of five Commissioners of Indian Affairs; to permit National banks to loan ten per cent of their surplus as well as of their capital; to compel the stockholders of National banks failing to pay up their capital stock to pay the deficiency, otherwise the banks to go into liquidation or have a receiver appointed to close up their business; to authorize the Secretary of War to erect at Salisbury, this State, a monument to the memory of the Union Soldiers who died in prisson there; a resolution increasing the appropriation for the Vienna Exposition to $300,000.

In the House the appropriation to the Bureau of Education was rejected; the Legislative Appropriation bill was passed; an amendment re-establishing seperate missions for Guatamala, Costa-Rica, Honduros, Salvador and Nicaragua was reported; also a bill reducing the rate of letter postage to two cents.

From Raleigh.

The Legislature re-convened on the 15th inst, a number of bills have been introduced in the Senate, among them the following: a bill allowing the United States Government to hold lands in the State whereon to build dwellings, coal depots, bouys, light keepers and the necessary out houses, &c., for the dwellings of Light house keepers, which passed its several readings without a dissenting voice; a resolution of inquiry as to the feasibility of establishing a Bureau of Statistics of Agriculture and Immigration; a bill to incorporate the Albemarle and Scuppernong Steamboat Transportation Company. Mr. Chamberlain was granted indefinite leave of absence on account of sickness.

In the House the more important bills are: one to exchange the stocks which the State owns in railroads, corporations, &c., for the bonds with which said stocks were obtained. The exchange is to be made at par, and no special tax bonds are to be received. A bill extending for two years, from the 31st of March, 1873, the time for the registration of all deeds and other instruments required or allowed to be registered, except mortgage deeds, trust deeds and marriage settlements was passed. The bill to amend the act to lay off the homestead and personal property exemption, providing that where the homestead has been once laid off by creditors it cannot again be so laid of under subsequent levies, except in cases of fraud was passed.

Superintendent of Public Instruction—Acceptance of Mr. Battle.

It will be seen from the correspondence below that Gov. Caldwell has appointed Hon. Kemp P. Battle, Superintendent of Public Instruction, which position has been accepted by that gentleman. The correspondence speaks for itself:

RALEIGH, Jan. 14, 1873.

Kemp P. Battle, Esq.:

DEAR SIR—The office of Superintendent of Public Instruction having become vacant by the death of Rev. James Reid, it devolves upon me to fill the vacancy. This is an office of great importance to the people of both races, and the success or failure of our common schools is largely dependent upon the qualifications and fitness of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. After maturely considering the matter in all its aspects, I have determined to tender the office to you. From a long acquaintance, I believe you possess, in an eminent degree, all the qualities and qualifications which are necessary and requisite to make our common schools a success, and that your appointment will give general, if not universal, satisfaction. I am further persuaded that your freedom from political prejudice and intolerance will prompt you to take as much interest, and manifest as much zeal in behalf of the education and moral culture of one race of our fellowcitizens as of the other; and that you will know, or favor, or ignore no one on account of his or her race or previous condition, but that you will administer this office and discharge its duties impartially, and without favor or fear.

I trust, Sir, that you will accept the accompanying commission, and give me your valuable aid in an honest effort to build up and maintain a good system of common schools in our State.

I am Sir, very truly,
Your obedient servant,
TOD R. CALDWELL,
Governor.

RALEIGH, January 14th, 1873.

His Excellency Tod R. Caldwell, Governor North Carolina:

DEAR SIR—After careful deliberation I deem it my duty to accept the position of Superintendent of Public Instruction in North Carolina, which you have so unexpectedly tendered me.

The cause of popular education should be raised above partizan considerations. Reciprocating and honoring your motives in endeavoring to effect this great object, as shown in the appointment of one not of your own party, I shall labor with earnest desire, as the Constitution provides, to diffuse the light of knowledge equally and impartially among all the youth of the State, without bias of politics or bias of race.

To aid in relieving the intellectual famine of the rising generation, in removing from the State the blight of ignorance, in re-kindling the extinguished fires of our venerable University, once so honored and useful, in placing North Carolina abreast with the most cultured of English speaking people, is worthy of the ambition of any man.

Deeply impressed, notwithstanding your favorable opinion, with a sense of my want of the requisite qualifications to accomplish the task, yet intending to bring to the work industry and zeal, I will enter on my duties, relying on your efficient aid, as well as on the co-operation of the Board of Education, the Trustees of the University, and most of all, of the Legislature of the State.

Thanking you for the kind terms of praise with which you accompany my commission, I am,

Very respectfully yours,
KEMP P. BATTLE.

Type-metal Statue of Horace Greeley.

At a Chapel Meeting of the compositors employed on The Tribune, held on Thursday, Jan. 9 1873, the following Preamble and Resolution were passed unanimously.

Whereas, It has been proposed that the several printing offices in the United States give one or more pounds of old type for the purpose of making a statue of Horace Greeley, to be erected in the lot in Greenwood where his remains are intered: and

Whereas, Type metal is specially adapted to reproduce sharp and definite outlines, and peculiarly fitted to speak in the mute form of an image to those who in after years, visit his resting place, as it did beneath the training of his hand, and the grandeur of his brain and the largeness of heart: therefore

Resolved, That we approve of the idea of erecting a statue of Horace Greeley in Greenwood, made of Type Metal which has been cast into type and worn out in the service of teaching the People; and further, be it.

Resolved, That we ask of our fellow-craftsmen (many of whom, now scattered over the country, have, like ourselves, either worked with or for him during the forty years gone by,) to set up, on Monday, Febuary 7, 1873, the 62d anniversary of Mr. Greeley's birth one thousand ems, and give the receipts for the same to be expended in making and erecting the statue. The money to be forwarded to the president of New York Typographical Union, No. 6, 22 Duane-st., New York City, of which Union Mr. Greeley was the first President.

Resolved, That the above preamble and resolutions be given to the press of the United States, with a request that they be printed and circulated as widely as possible.

Senator Pool.

A lengthy and well written letter from Hon. Kenneth Raynor, (now of Mississippi, but formerly of North Carolina,) argues the propriety of a further recognition of the South by the Administration as calculated to promote good feeling and establish a feeling of unity. In case the President should deem it wise to heed such a suggestion, Mr. Raynor thinks that no fitter or more acceptable representative of that section can be found than Senator Pool. We take pleasure in attesting the value of such a compliment from such a source. The only drawback is the ferocity with which the Opposition hail every recognition of Southern men, as if it were a dishonor to stand well with a Republican Administration.—Washington Chronicle.

A DRUG STORE WROTH SEEING,

To the Editor of the North Carolinian

During a recent visit to your little City I was among other things attracted by the new Drug Store of Dr. J. N. BUTT, No. 75 Road Street, and I cannot resist the impulse to ask your readers to call and see it, as it is not surpassed by any you will meet in the South, not in Baltimore will you find one more elegantly fitted up except its deficiency in gas lights which the Doctor hopes to supply soon. It is a two story brick building, 35 by 27 feet, with dwelling above. The lower story is divided into Dispensing Room, Office, Ware Room and Laboratory. The Store Room is very light. The front being entirely of plate glass, nine pieces 90 inches long, with two doors and one window, glass 56 x 90. The doors being double, shut one upon the other, and when open, as in summer, are folded back into a recess to the wall, making a straight line with the door and an elegant finish. The doors and flanges to the same being of plate glass, 90 inches long, does not impede the light open or shut. The floor is almost even with the pavement and is covered with a carpet of cocoa matting. There are two counters on either side, 12 feet long, beautifully white splendidly finished, and of good design with Italian marble tops. Their ends 8 feet from the doors, pass at right angle to the wall. On the right hand one is a Tennessee Marble Fountain, and on the other an Aquarium of Gold and other Fish. On either side between the door and counter, is a fine silver mounted walnut Show Case, 5 feet high, fastened to the wall a beautiful and attractive ornament to display Fancy Articles, and in the rear a Poison Case of the same kind. Three find silver mounted and one plate glass Prescription Case, with scroll and clock on top, and one fine balance scale adorn the counters. There are over 120 drawers which make a fine display, they are of sweet gum varnished, which is the prettiest wood that could be used. The shelves are supported on iron brackets, at the terminus of which, 3 feet from the ceiling, is a snow white cornice, interlined with two strips of gilt moulding. The wall and entire store is pure white except the drawers and when lighted presents a very imposing display. Last but not least, is the "little jewel" of an office, which is so much needed by every business man. The Doctor is doing, as he tells us, an extensive and lucrative office practice. It is fitted up in fine style, with every modern necessity and examiuations are made with as much privacy as in your own home. The Laboratory is not yet finished, but when done will be a very responsible part of the establishment. The Doctor keeps a large stock of gold pertaining to the Drug Trade. VISITOR.

Our Devil wants to know if three miles make a league how many will make a conference?

Senator GRANDY left for Raleigh on Friday morning. Senator CHAMBERLAIN has been detained at home on account of sickness in his family.

Maj. BUNNEL, having purchased the large brick building of Mr. CLARK on Water Street, is fitting it up. He says he means "business." Success to all who do.

We learn that the Post Office at Plymouth was entered on the night of the 15th and robbed of stamps, money and registered letters. No clue as yet to the thief.

The other day—it was a rather stormy one—a sporting friend said he could not understand why the weather didn't hold up, seeing that the wind was driven with such a strong rain.

Early gardening has commenced. The weather begins to make us think of Spring, and roses, and early vegetables. Such days as this—warm, bright and inspiring—are enough to pay the traveler or invalid for a trip from the snow bound States of the North.

To the queries of "Interested reader" we reply that the first book printed in England was by WILLIAM CLAXTON in 1474; and that the battle of New Orleans was fought on Jan. 8th, 1815.

We are pained to learn of the death of our venerable friend EDWARD NEEDLES of Baltimore, which occurred on the 14, inst. He was in his 77th, year of age. In the large circle in which he moved he will be sadly missed.

By the proceedings elsewhere published it will be seen that the people of Currituck are aroused to the importance of Immigration. They held an enthusiastic meeting at the Court House, organized a Society auxilliary to the one formed here, and are manifesting the right spirit.

Matrimonial scrip in town is not quite so dull as it has been. During the past week there have been several takers. It is as it should be. The value has not declined, hence those wanting may as well invest now as ever. Our friend PRICE, the Register, is ready to supply any who wish to obtain a certificate of prospective bliss.

WILLIS BAGLEY Esq the Solicitor of this District, is winning golden opinions in every county of his circuit. He is not only a young man of more than ordinary talent, but as a lawyer he is thoroughly posted. We believe him to be one of the rising young men of Eastern Carolina. There is certainly a bright future before him.

Too many parents make a mistake in not giving their boys a chance to learn a trade. Indeed it should be more generally insisted on for there is nothing more fully assured than this—that unless something is done in behalf of the rising generation of boys, in regard to the facilities for learning trades, ten years hence such a thing as a skilled American workman will be a curiosity for BARNUM to secure at any cost.

Hon. K. R. COBB has been triumphantly vindicated, the charges against him concocted by his enemies having failed to accomplish the object designed. He has been confirmed by the Senate as Supervisor of Internal Revenue for the States of Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana. He is one of the most efficient officers connected with the Revenue service. The Boston Post thus refers to his confirmation:

Kenneth R. Cobb, a brother of Representative Cobb, of North Carolina, has been confirmed by the Senate, to be a Supervisor of Internal Revenue for the District embracing Tennessee and Mississippi, the charges preferred against him having been prouounced too flimsy to be entertained. It is claimed that Cobb had flattering letters from Mr. Delano, while the latter was Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and from Dr. Presbury, the Supervisor under whom Cobb served in Virginia, highly commending him for promotion. These letters were written after the charges against him had been investigated by the Revenue Bureau.

After all, there are pleasant things connected with editorial life. We have now had sixteen years experience—twelve years in another State and four in this, and were we to write a book about "what we know of Publishing a Newspaper" we would certainly devote a special chapter to our MODEL SUBSCRIBERS. Ah how sensible, how genial and how liberal they are! When they visit us they knock gently at the door, come in and stay, if we are busy, not over ten minutes, tell us their business in plain words, hand us a new list of subscribers, pay their bills without any objurgatory remarks, always have a good word to say for the CAROLINIAN, and depart with our blessing following them down the stairs. One of these has just left us. He was in to pay his annual subscription—he says he "always pays in January," and he did it freely and pleasantly. He told us that he has taken the paper from the beginning and that his subscription will close with his obituary notice. Long may it be before we are called upon to write it.

A cotempory informs us that his town was fruitful of mistakes last week. A doctor being sent for mistook his Bible for a case of surgical instruments, a merchant sold a lady a paper of pins and charged for a barrel of flour, and a farmer rode home the wrong horse. Cause; Love and egg-nogg. Too much of either is dangerous.

We have just read full notes of the testimony of the witnesses in the case of A. J. BELCH, tried at Edenton a few weeks ago for the murder of THOMAS J. EVANS. The deed was committed in Hertford county over a year ago, but the case was removed to Chowan for trial. Although entirely circumstantial, the evidence is the clearest we ever saw—a continuous chain from beginning to end without a single missing link. That he committed the deed—went to the store of the young man EVANS after business hours at night; found him alone and engaged in reading; quietly entered the room and felled him to the floor with a club, inflicting two mortal wounds; left his own old clothing and escaped with those of his victim, including his watch—all these damning facts were so clearly brought out as to leave not a shadow of a doubt. And then his own admission—that he had been prompted to the deed by "trouble, money and the devil," was proven. It was a brutal murder, and those who witnessed the trial and we that have read full notes of the evidence have no doubt of BELCH's guilt. He has been sentenced to be hung on the 12th, of February.

A fire on Wednesday at the late residence of Edwin Forrest, in Philadelphia, destroyed part of the library, including nearly all of his valuable Shakespearean collection. The famous original copy of Shakespeare, which Mr. Forrest always kept in a glass case, was consumed. He frequently remarked, concerning this work, that, in case of fire in his house, he would rather anything else should be consumed than that volume. It was published in 1623, and valued at $5,000. The loss will amount to from $15,000 to $20,000.

The dead body of a man was found under the ice in a small creek near Great Bend, twelve miles from Watertown, N. Y., on Thursday night. Traces of blood were discovered on the roadside, and the tracks led to the discovery. Appearrnces indicated that the victim had been beaten and subsequently suffocated. A letter was found on the body, and $100 inside of a sheet of letter paper directed to Charles Wenham, Copenhagen, N. Y. Officers went to Carthage on Friday, and on Saturday morning District Attoney Williams sent the following dispatch; "The murdered man is Charles Winham, an Englishman of Copenhagen. The murderer is Charles Southland of Copenhagen. The evidence clearly indicating this, I dispatch Chief of Police Gurst and Constables Budd, Hubbard, and Irvin after Southland. About ten miles away they found and secured the prisoner, and started for Carthage. Soon after starting the prisoner went into fits and spasms, and soon died. Evidently he had taken poison before the officers got him, but he denied it. On arrival, Dr. Peden was called in, and at once announced it a case of poisoning by strychnine. On examinatiou he discovered a bottle in his pocket with strychnine in it. We have the murderer but, he has cheated the gallows. Probably no one else was connected with the murder.

The suddenness of the removal of this interesting and beautiful child from a circle of loving and attached friends, renders the affliction especially sad. Cut down in the morning of life, with the brightest prospects opening before her many fond anticipations have been quenched in her death. She was possessd of many amiable qualities, and her natural graces were beautified and adorned by her many virtues. Maggie had many particular advantages offered her, in which she profited by, and improved greatly. The day and Sabbath school or church rarely ever found her place vacant. To her many friends and companions, her life is a sweet memory.

When brought down to the verge of the cold river to confront the "last enemy" she fonnd him robbed of his sting. She could say:

"I would not live always, no, welcome the tomb. Since Jesus hath lain there, I dread not its gloom." But Maggie has gone, and left us and her place, so gently and tenderly filled in the home circle, is now vacant—She will be missed and mqurned by many, but among all those by whom she was so dearly loved, none will feel her loss so keenly, as that now broken and bereaved circle of her adopted parents.

To the companions of the dear one, who survive her though she still speaks, "Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth." Her voice issues from the tomb with the solem warning: "Be ye also ready." May this sad dispensation be sanctified to all who knew this departed one, and lead them to "go up higher.

OUR BODILY INFIRMITIES.—Physical infirmities are the lot of all. Millions are always sick. No man, woman or child is uniformly in perfect health. Much, however, of the sickness and suffering which render life a burden to so many of our fellow beings is due to carelessness and neglect. A mighty antidote to the leading causes of disease has been provided. It is as harmless as it is efficient. No poisonous drug enters into its composition. It is an undefiled stimulant, tonic and aperient, of which every ingredient is vegetable. This unexceptionable preventive and restorative medicine is not "a new thing under the sun." Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will soon have been before the world a quarter of a century; and it is not too much to aver that thousands, aye, tens of thousands, are now using it who would have been in their graves years ago had they not been strengthened and sustained by this wholesome stimulant. The rapidity with which minor ailments often become, when neglected, obstinate diseases, is well known. This tonic is famous for the immediate check which it puts upon these breeders of deadly disorders. The sensation of languor, the sick headache, the nervousness, the indisposition to exertion, the nausea, the confusion of brain, the physical debility, which are intended to premonish us of the approach of serious danger, are invariably removed by a few doses of the Bitters. The fame of the preparation as a genuine specific for dyspepsia, bilious complaints, malarious fevers, rheumatism and chronic debility, is as wide as the world; and in these days of infamous charlatanism, when fierce cathartics, that rob the invalid of the last remnants of his strength, are advertised as invigorants (!), it is in its to mankind that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are everywhere procurable, and everywhere popular.

Beware of Counterfeits!

JOB MOSES' SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS

are extensively COUNTERFEITED. Dishonest Druggists endeavor to sell the counterfeits to make greater profits. The genuine have the name of Job Moses on each package. All others are worthless imitations. The GENUINE Pills are unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. They moderate all excesses and remove all obstructions, from whatever cause.

TO MARRIED LADIES

they are particularly suited. They will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity; and although very powerful, contain nothing hurtful to the constitution. In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pains in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, they will effect a cure when all other means have failed. The circulars around each package give full directions and advice, or will be sent free to all writing for them, sealed from observation.

N. B.—In all cases where the GENUINE cannot be obtained, One Dollar enclosed to the Sole Proprietor, JOB MOSES, 18 Cortlandt St., New York, will insure a bottle of the remedies, containing Fifty Pills, by return mail, securely sealed from any knowledge of its contents.

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS

Cure COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, SORE THROAT, HOARSENESS, DIFFICULT BREATHING, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION AND LUNG DISEASES. They have no taste of medicine, and any child will take them. Thousands have been restored to health that had before despaired. Testimony can in hundreds of cases. Ask for BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS. Price 25 cents per box. JOB MOSES, Proprietor, 18 Cortlandt Street, New York.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

To Skeptics

The almost daily receipt of voluntary testimonials from every part of the country from Physicans, Clergymen, old and young, male and female, is sufficient to convince the most sceptical that Dr. Tutt's Expectorant is the most valuable Lung Balsam of the age; many wonderful cures have been performed by it, as may be seen by hundreds of certificates in the hands of the proprietor. Try it and you will doubt no longer.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga. September 24, 1870.

Mr. L. H. M. McFeeters:

Dear Friend—Enclosed please find P. O. order for five dollars, and I shall have no apology for not writing to you before. I have been quite sick and very busy when well; therefore neglected it. You would please send me per Express two more bottles of Tutt's Expectorant. It is certainly a splendid thing for a cough; it has cured me effectually of my cough, and also several others to whom I gave it.

With a thousand thanks for the medicine you sent me. I remain you sincere friend,

R. C. SCOTT.

CELEBRATED

Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

ELIZABETH CITY,

Buying a Horse.

First acquire a knowledge of horses, so as to know a good horse when you see one that is a model. There is more money lost, and more honest men are defrauded, in buying and selling of horses, than in any other production of the farm. For the last twenty years, I have had all sorts and shapes of horses, from the pony to the Shanghi, and the greatest weight in the least bulk is the animal for service. A horse weighing from 1,00 to 1,400 pounds, is large enough for farm work. You must understand what you want an animal for, before you go to buy. One minute is long time enough to view the standing points of a horse. These are: A good lively eye, inclined to hazle, and a pleasant countenance; a flat leg and open feet; shoulders set rather back, and thin at the withers a short back, and no objection if it is slightly arched; the proper shape of the hinder parts depends on what you wish the horse to perform.

The prevailing blemishes are blindness or weak eyes, ringbone, spavin, hoof-bound, cured or through-pinned, stifled, &c., all of which an expert observer will detect in one minutes time. The heaves is the most difficult to detect, as that depends upon the treatment the animal has had for the week previous. The thumps, or palpating of the heart, may be detected easily, by moving and exciting the horse, and stopping him suddenly. As to the age of the horse hurting him, it depends upon how he has been used until he is six years old; if sound then, he is good for twelve or twenty years service yet. Judging the age of a horse by his mouth, is very uncertain. You can tell to a certainty until he is six years old, then you must judge from general appearance. Some judges rely on the tusk, but some horses never have and tusk—about the same number of mares as horses that have none.

Some men will tell you that they know the age of a horse by the jaw, or the wrinkles about the eye, or by joints on the tail. You might as well say that you know the age of a man by the wrinkles in his face. The wearing of the teeth depends upon the general health and lungs of the animal. Bad teeth follow deseased lungs.

In purchasing a horse, rely upon your judgment, and when you trade, do not ask a neighbor, as every man ought to know his own business. If there is much talking to be done, let the other do it. What you say let it be to the point, and stand to it.—Ohio Farmer.

Death in the Well.

A farmer and several of his children were sick with typhoid fever. Their physician was unable to account for the malady until his attention was called to the water from the well adjoining the house of death. It had a peculiarly pleasing, sweetish flavor, but the idea that there was anything wrong there was held to be absurd by the surviving members of the family. However, the suspicions of the physician were aroused, and the fact that the privy of the farm-house was within 15 feet of the well, and had existed there for many years seemed to point to a possible defilement. On testing the water it was found to be highly charged with the products of decomposing animal matter of poisnous character, and the sufficient cause of the sickness was apparent. The well was abandoned, and the farmer recovered, but his children were sacrificed. Typhoid and similar deseases are the farmers bane. They are peculiarly the diseases of the rural districts, and cess pools and barn-yards exist too often in close proximity to wells from which water for domestic use is drawn. No more active ferment of blood poison can be taken into the system than putral animal refuse, and no more deadly maladies exist than these thus originated. Fevers, cholera, dysentary, diarrhea, and many eruptions of a painful nature are of this class, and children are generally the first victims. Surely no stronger argument can be urged for a reformation in our present barbarious method of getting rid of household waste. Getting rid! So far from this we but store it up to plague us with it in the worst possible way. The ancient method, inculcated by Moses, for the purification of the camps of the Isrelites, after thousands of years, is striving for a place in our present civilized appliances, and there are none more conveniantly situated than farmers or country residents to avail themselves of it. In the shape of the modern earth-closet it is practicable and easy, and provides a cure for the evil we here depreciate.

The Chapel Hill (N. C.) Aricultural Club offered a silver cup to the one who would produce the best crop of cotton on what is known in that region as "worn-out" land, and the prize was won by Rev. J. Pleasants Mason, who raised on an acre 1,156 pounds of seed cotton—about 450 pounds of lint. The stipulation was that no commercial manure should be used. He manured with twenty loads of rotten straw in January, and plowed thoroughly. In March manured again with twenty-six loads of compost, (stable manure and mold,) two loads of hog-pen manure, and two loads of leached ashes. That part served with ashes suffered least from the drouth, which facts we condense from the Carolina Farmer. He estimates his cost of cultivation at $10,25, which, at only fifteen cents for the cotton, would be a handsome profit.

A few sheep on a farm is what almost every one can make pay, even where large flocks are out of the question. "What about the dogs and the freedmen? Don't they love mutton?" we shall be asked. Yes, and the latter are equally fond of bacon, but you, doubtless, contrive to keep a few hogs in spite of them; so, with a little attention, which it will pay to give, you can keep a few sheep. We do not deny that, in many parts of the country, there are obstacles in the way of keeping sheep, but they are, generally, much overated.

Nearly every branch of business nowadays has its public journal devoted to its particular interests. The flourishing trade in divorces in Chicago has at last established an "organ" for itself in the Matrimonial News. The purpose of this publication is avowedly to bring parties together who are seeking each other, but it must really be in the interest of the divorce brokers, for it will promote their business famously.

To Prevent Felons Heading.—Take black pepper in the kernel, and pulverize well; then soak the pepper with spirits of turpentine, and apply to the felon as a poultice. If this remedy is used when the felon first makes its appearance, it is a certain cure in a few applications.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

A farm of 700 acres in Pasquotank County 10 miles from town, with fine two story dwelling, large barn, kitchen and other outhouses; as also, two other dwellings. barns and other houses at different points on the farm. This farm is all cleared but 150 acres, is free from swamps and other waste land, and is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, &c. The price is $14,000 in easy payments.

A farm of 500 acres in Pasquotank County, 6 miles from town, and one mile from the River, with good new dwelling built in modern style, barn, stables, four tenant houses scattered over the farm, fine water, &c. This farm is situated on the most public road in the County, has 300 acres cleared and balance in splendid pine, oak, cypress, maple, sweet gum, and other valuable timber. It is peculiarly adapted to raising cotton, $50 per acre, net, having been realized on a part of it this year in cotton. It also grows corn, wheat, oats, and other crops well. Price $12,000 in easy payments.

A valuable vacant lot in the town of E. City containing a half square, on the principal street in the town immediately opposite Court House square. Has an iron fence in front, fine shrubbery, and is near the large new Hotel just erected. Price $2,000 in easy payments.

Also another valuable vacant lot in same town of two acres, in a good neighborhood, with a new and valuable fence 9 feet high around it. Price $1,000 in easy payments.

A lot of three acres of land in the suberbs of the town, and within convenient distance of the business part of the town, with good two story dwelling, garner, stables, &c. This is a desirable purchase, and is offered for $4,000 in easy payments.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalisis and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A Steam Saw and Grist Mill in the town of Nixonton 8 miles from E. City. This Mill has a fine wharf and store attached on deep navigable water, the engine is 40 horse power, and all in good order. It is one of the finest locations to be found any where for custom work, and for getting good saw logs easily and cheaply. Price $4,000 cash.

Adjoining the mill property is 40 acres of fine land on the River, with three houses, all for $1200. Near the same is a good two story dwelling and 13 acres of land for $2,000, and a good one story dwelling, with one acre of land for $300.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotauk county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church, school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Also one other tract in Pasquotank county, containing 116 acres, within one mile of the town with fine buildings, mostly cleared and in cultivation. Price $25 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 months.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediately on Albemarle Sound where the water is 12 miles wide, and 18 to 20 feet deep, has got buildings, and fine neighborhood. The fishery is on the farm and goes with it. It has a new seine 2,500 yards long, and all the necessary boats, buildings, &c., (which cost over $15,000 two years ago.) The fishery alone, of a good season, will make from 5 to $10,000 profit to the owner. This property is offered at forced sale for the low price of $20,000, $7,000 cash, balance on easy times.

A store at South Mills, in Camden county, 20 miles from E. City, and 20 miles from Norfolk, lying on the canal where steamers pass daily. A fine chance for merchandize. Store is large with dwelling above containing six rooms, is in first rate order, has office, kitchen, dairy, and other necessary outhouses. Goods to the amt. of $50,000 per annum can be sold here, and at large profits. A splended stand for a country retail store. Price $2,500—one third cash, balance in one and two years.

A valuable tract of land in Camden county, at South Mills, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, lying on the canal for two miles, containing over 900 acres of land—two-thirds cleared, and in a fine state of cultivation, with good buildings, &c.; balance in valuable timber. Price $12,000, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, interest from January, 1871. This is a valuable farm for corn, wheat, and vegetables, and being midway between Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and located where steamers pass by the door daily, is a desirable and cheap property.

A fine farm of 600 acres within six miles of E. City, one mile from navigable water, and the best cotton farm in the State. It is also well adapted to raising corn and wheat. This farm has a splended two-story dwelling upon it, large barn, 40 by 60 feet, a large number of outhouses, by splended trees and shrubbery, is in a strong Union neighborhood, and altogether the most desirable place in the county. A little over one-half of this land is cleared, and the balance is covered with the finest yellow pine, poplar, ash and other timber. Price $30 per acre—one-third cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Title reserved.

Sixteen houses and lots in Elizabeth City, with good dwellings, out-houses, &c. Prices and terms reasonable.

A valuable farm in Perquimans county, N. C. near navigable water. Has a fine dwelling-house with ten rooms, in splended order, with splended barns and stables—all in first rate order. The farm is very productive in corn, oats, wheat, cotton and clover. It is one of the finest farms in the State and is now in good cultivation, contains 585 acres of land, about three-fourths cleared and under cultivation. Price $10,000, one-third cash January 1, next, balance in two equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of six per cent.

A farm of 370 acres 8 miles from town by water, and 12 miles by land, is offered for sale for $10,000 in easy payments. This tract of land lies immediately on the River which is 4 miles wide and washes the farm its whole length on one side, and a branch of the River one mile wide, binds it on one end. The land is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, peas, &c., lies high and dry, and is susceptible of the highest improvement. Fronting and looking over, as it does, two large sheets of navigable water, where steamers and sailing vessels are constantly passing, carrying freight and passengers to all parts of the country, its location and surroundings, are of the most fascinating and desirable character. There is a fishery on it ready for working a seine 2,500 yards long, and which commands a portion of both streams of water, and can be made immensely profitable. The price charged is low, and the purchase a very desirable one. The buildings consist of a good two-story dwelling and out-houses.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

A Farm of 200 acres within one mile of Elizabeth City, with good two story dwelling, large barn and stables, and all necessary outhouses, orchard of fine fruit trees, and a large number of ornamental trees and shrubbery around dwelling. This farm is on one of the most public roads in the County—is in a high state of cultivation—has fine and durable fences, &c. Altogether, it is the richest land and most desirable location, anywhere in the neighborhood of the town. Price $6000—one-half cash, balance in easy payments.

STOP TAKING SO MUCH MEDICINE, EAT BETTER FOOD!!

KEYSTONE MILL COMPANY'S

PREPARED WHEAT

AND

SUGAR OF MILK.

Patented July 23d 1872.

A FARINACEOUS FOOD FOR INVALIDS AND INFANTS.

By the peculiar process in which this preparation is made, all the flesh forming constituents—EARTH and SALINE elements of the grain are retained, with none of the STARCH, all of which being converted into Dextrine. It contains all the Lime, Sulphur, Phosphorus, Iron and Manganese for the animal judices, and Gum and Fecula for respiration and fatty tissue, with the proteine compounds (Gluten, Albumen &c.) from which nerve and muscular tissue, are found.

is believed by the most intelligent men that much of the suffering, sickness and mortality of mankind is traceable to deficient or faulty nutrition. The same cause may also be assigned the frequent disappointment of physicians in the result of the action of most approved remedies. We feel sure that this article will supply the deficiency.

Sugar of Milk.

[LACTIN.]

Is a chrystalized sugar, obtained from the whey of cow's milk by evoporation. It is manufactured largely in Switzerland and the Bavarian Alps as an article of food and for medical purposes.

It has been used considerably in England as non-nitrogenous article of diet in Consumption and other Pulmonary Diseases, and with excelent effect in extreme Irritability of the Stomach, (see Wood & Bache's Dispensatory.)

We manufacture 2 grades:—No 1, in yellow wrapper, ground coarse, to be eaten as cracked wheat, with cream. No. 2, white wrapper, is ground into Flour for Puddings, Blanc-Mange and Bread.

DIRECTIONS.

For making Mush with No. 1, Ground Coarce.—Mix four tablespoonfuls of the Wheat with a gill of cold water; rub into a smooth paste; then pour it into a pint of boiling water, stirring briskly, boil for 20 minutes. To be eaten with rich cream.

For Puddings, &c. use No 2, Ground Fine.—Mix a tablespoonful of the food with a small quantity of cold water rub to a smooth paste; add to one-half pint of boiling water, constantly stirring, and boil about 8 minutes over a moderate fire. Add milk and flavor to taste. For bread, use as ordinary flour.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

A Serial Story By DR. HOLLAND.

New Story by SAXE HOLM

A Long Story From BRET HARTE.

BRILLIAFT ARRAY OF CONTRIBUTORS.

CLARENCE COOK On Furniture And Decoration.

R. H. STODDARD On Authors.

EXTRAORDINARY INDUCEMENTS TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS;

500 Pages for $1.00! &c., &c.

The Publishers of Scribner's Monthly, in their Prospectus just issued, promised for the ensuing year a more prilliant array of contributors, and an increase in the variety and beauty of its illustrations, already conceded by the critics to be "finer than any which have hitherto appeared in any American magazine."

Dr. HOLLAND, the Editor, will write the serial story of the year, which will be autobiographical in form, and will be illustrated by Miss Hallock. It is entitled ARTHUR BONICASTLE, and will deal with some of the most difficult problems of American Life. It will be commenced in the November Number.

There will be a new story by SAXE HOLM, THE ONE LEGGED DANCERS.

BRET HARTE, the best writer of short stories now living, will contribute a chareteristic intitled THE EPIC OF FIDDLETOWN, which will be illustrated by Sheppard.

R. H. STODDARD will write a series of entertainiog papers about AUTHORS, THEIR PERSONAL CHARACTERISTICS, HOME LIFE, FYMILIES, FRIENDS, WHIMS, AND WAYS. A series of PORTRAITS OF LIVING AMERICAN WRITERS, is also promised.

Clarance Cook will write about FURNITRE, AND THE DECORATION OF AMERICAN HOMES. These papers will be eminently practical as well as artistic, and will be illustrated with designs and sketches by numerous artists in addition to those which the writer himself will furnish.

Among those who will contribute are:

Hans Andersen, Bryant, Bushell, Eggleston, Froude, Higginson, Bishop Hunlington, Bret Hart, John Hay, H. H. McDonald, Mitchell, Miss Phelps, Stedman, Stockton, Stoddard, Celia Thaxter, Warner, Wilkinson, Mrs Whitney, besides a host of others.

The editorial control and direction of the Magazine will remain in the hands of Dr. Holland, who will continue to write "THE TOPPICS OF THE TIME," which the N. Y. Independent says, "are more widely quoted than any similar papers in any American magazine."

Watson Gilder will write "THE OLD CABINET," as hitherto. Prof. John C. Draper conducts the Department of "NATURE AND SCIENCE." The department of "HOME AND SOCIETY" and "CULTURE AND PROGRESS," will engage the contributions of more than a score of pens on both sides of the Atlantic. The Watchman and Reflectors says, "Scribner's Monthly for September is better than usual, which indicates a needless waste of editoual brdins and Publisher's money, for the Magazine was good enough before." And yet the Publishers promise to make it still better for the coming year!!

The Subscription price is $4.00 a year, with special rates to Clergymen
